

The extra session of the Legislature convened to-day at noon, and was organized by the election of the old officers—Barden being President pro tem of the Senate, and Bross, Chief Clerk. Barrows was re-elected Speaker, and Hunter, Chief Clerk. The revised statutes will be taken up on Wednesday, and rushed through with all possible haste consistent with a careful examination of the work. Our correspondent thinks the session will last about six days. No doubt there will be a hurrying up of the work as the members do not draw pay, but whether they can sufficiently examine the statutes in that time is somewhat doubtful. Should there be many amendments offered as it is expected there will be, much time will be consumed over their discussion.

It is intimated by the State Journal that the Legislature will be called upon to consider the question of granting aid to the sufferers of the recent tornado. There is no doubt the people need aid and should have it. Those who are indifferent about the matter, are slow to respond to the cry of distress, and there are many of such, the sufferers would receive comparatively little by individual contributions. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and what is to be done? In view of the pressing wants of the sufferers, the extent of the destruction, and the manner in which they had their homes swept away, we believe the State will be justified in contributing to their relief. It is a matter in which the whole people are deeply interested, and as the amount would be scarcely anything to each tax payer, while the amount given would be of immense benefit, we hope the Legislature will give the subject a careful consideration for justice and righteousness sake.

CYCLONES AND TORNADOES.

Of late years some of the Western States have been visited by tornadoes which have killed hundreds of persons and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property. They seem to be on the increase in the West, but in the East and in the South they rarely occur, at least in the latter sections they have never been so destructive and appalling in their character as in three or four Western States. These storms are called cyclones, but they should be designated as tornadoes, as a cyclone more properly belongs to the sea.

What causes them? When opposite winds of different temperature meet in the upper atmosphere, a vast amount of vapor is condensed into a thick black cloud, and a whirling motion is given to the air which soon takes the shape of a vast funnel. This is a tornado, and a tornado and a waterspout, repeat on a small scale, but with hardly less violence and destruction, the phenomenon of the cyclone on the seas. A cyclone or a tornado, north of the equator, whirls from right to left, but south of it their motion is from left to right. Their diameter is usually from 200 to 300 miles, and some have been known to be 1000. Their central part is almost perfect calm, while the whirling motion of the outer part of the cyclone ranges from 100 to 200 miles per hour. A knowledge of the law of storms enables the navigator to steer his vessel so as to avoid a direct encounter with these tempests, and for this reason, we have had comparatively few accidents to vessels on the northern seas.

By the cyclone at Calcutta in October, 1864, over 100 ships were lost, and not less than 60,000 persons perished. One at Nassau, in the Bahamas, October 1 and 2, 1866, destroyed 600 houses and many ships, and killed from 60 to 70 persons. The cyclone which visited a portion of India, in October, 1876, destroyed over 5,000 lives.

The tornadoes which have swept through some of the Western States within the past twenty years, have caused the loss of hundreds of lives, and property to the amount of many millions of dollars has been destroyed. We will mention a few of the more severe tornadoes which have occurred in the West within a few years, and it is a remarkable fact, that every one of the great tornadoes in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, took place in the afternoon, and within two or three hours of the same time of day. Let us give the facts. The tornado which visited Viroqua, in this State, a few years ago, which killed several persons, and totally destroyed many houses, occurred at four o'clock in the afternoon.

In August, 1868, the town of La Prairie, in this county, was visited by a tornado, one person was killed and considerable property destroyed. This occurred at four o'clock in the afternoon. The destructive tornado which three Hazel Green in gloom on the 10th of March, 1876, killed nine persons, and laid waste a vast deal of property. This took place between four and five o'clock in the afternoon.

The last of the great storms in this State, which spread destruction in its course, killing scores of persons, injuring hundreds, and occasioning the loss of over a million dollars worth of property visited Mineral Point on the 23d day of May, 1878. It struck that place between four and five o'clock in the afternoon, and had traversed the distance of 102 miles before six o'clock.

The tornado which swept over Barrington in Illinois on the same day, made its sad visitation between five and six o'clock in the afternoon. One year ago to-day, June 4th, 1877, the village of Mt. Carmel, Illinois, was the victim of a fearful tornado. It killed 14 persons, and destroyed $500,000 worth of property. It struck its blow at four o'clock in the afternoon.

That ill-fated town, Richmond, Mo.; now experiences the horrors of a tornado. On Saturday, that funnel-shaped messenger of death, struck the town leveling everything on its path, and producing almost complete devastation. Fifteen persons were killed, and many severely injured. This occurred at four o'clock in the afternoon.

THE NEWS.

A report from Washington says the Republicans of the Senate will agree to the bill which passed the House appropriating money to pay the expenses of the Potter committee, as they believe the investigation will do them good in the end, and they do not want to appear in the light of obstructing the investigation. It is said also that the President will sign the bill when passed.

The Investigating Committee had no session on Monday, Potter went to New York to confer with Tilden. The Anderson material is not what Potter expected, and he wanted to talk the matter over with the boss. Anderson is now in the hands of General Butler, and it comes unimpaired out of the cross examination which Old Ben shall make, it will be surprising.

The annual address of J. A. Watrous, Grand Worthy Chief Templar, of Wisconsin, has been received, and will be delivered at Portage City, on Wednesday. According to the address, there are 190 Temples in the State, and upwards of 10,000 members, an increase of 50 Temples and 2,000 members since last report.

DID HE INTERVIEW?

The Language Attributed to President Hayes in an Interview with George Alfred Townsend. CHICAGO, May 31.—The papers publish an interview of George Alfred Townsend with President Hayes at Gettysburg which has caused considerable comment. The President expressed the belief that a good Providence was leading us to peace and order until the baneful effect of caucus government, which coerces the timid and often the good, has caused fear of a conflict. The direct agents which brought about the rebellion were the courts of right compared with the fomenters of the present discord. The attempt gives him, he says, no more personal alarm than any other citizen; but Mr. Key did not exaggerate the case when he said a bloody conflict might be impending, if the schemes were carried out. I swore to preserve the constitution, and I will deliver the executive office, and I intend to my successor. The only means that I can employ, the only power that I will recognize, is the lawful one of impeachment. They can impeach me in the house and try me in the Senate. There is no other way in which I will recognize any attempt of Congress to remove me; but I do not believe the United States Senate has fallen to that point where a high class of Democrats like Bayard and Thurman, Gordon and Hill will agree to make the Senate a vehicle for carrying out the revolutionary edict of a party caucus by a conviction on impeachment.

The President complimented Wade Hampton and Gov. Nichols, saying they had kept their whole obligations to the whites and the blacks, to the State and Union, and said the course of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens recommended him to his age and history. The correspondent asked: "Do you anticipate no other evil in case of the Potter party prevailing, than an attempt to impeach you?" "Yes. By getting a large majority—say two-thirds in both Houses of Congress—they might attempt to declare co-operation with the executive, and bring a deadlock on affairs. "Suppose Congress should recognize another person as President?" "That," said the President, "would be the civil war Judge Key and Mr. Stephens referred to. I should defend my office and the independence of the executive against any intrusion. I want the people to see to what this action of Congress tends. For that reason Judge Key addressed his letter to the southern people, that they might instruct their Congressmen so as to relieve the next Congress from the restraints of caucus power, when they arrive at Washington."

"Is the situation as bad as it was a week ago?" "No. The vote in the House of Representatives yesterday, when the date of adjournment was set by a large majority, shows that public opinion has set in too powerfully for the scheme, and that they had no willing allegiance in very many patriotic Democrats. Yet, it is well for the people to keep a vigilant eye on this question."

"Do you feel satisfied with your cabinet?" "I think I have a first-rate cabinet. Mr. Key would have been here to-day but for official duties. It is my desire to administer the Government kindly and wisely; but there is a point at which I must say: 'Go thus far, if you will—not further.'"

Hogs and Greenbacks—A Queer Story.

Joseph Hallermeier, an Austrian, about 32 years old, as brown as a nut, poorly clad and travel-stained, walked into Treasurer Gilliland's office yesterday. He was from Pulaski county, Missouri, about thirty miles below St. Louis, and had walked all the way to Washington. He had in his hand an envelope containing fragments of masticated greenbacks, which he wanted, if possible, to have redeemed. Some time ago he had a hole near a tree at home, and for sale keeping placed in it a number of greenbacks and national bank notes, all the money he had. The hogs in rooting around the spot unearthed the pocket-book containing the money and chewed and tore the notes into little bits. Upon discovering this, Hallermeier gathered together the pieces and tried to dispose of them in his neighborhood in St. Louis. Unsuccessful there, he took up his march for Washington to see what he could do here. Treasurer Gilliland examined the notes, and found that only two national bank fives and two greenback fives—$20 in all—could be recognized and redeemed. This amount was given him in exchange for his mutilated currency, and he went his way. In telling his story Hallermeier could not keep from crying. This was all his money, he said, and he was buying a farm. A short time ago he had given an agent $80 to enter his patent, but just before the agent had the $215 he had discovered that the agent had kept the money and had not entered the land.—Washington Star.

Cincinnati Commercial: If there are Communists who wish to take possession of our cities, we advise them, for their own good, to do nothing of the kind. The politicians of the period are confiscating the property gathered in cities just as fast as the money can be squeezed out of the owners. Precipitate action in dividing that remains would be a case of murdering the geese that lay the golden eggs.

Condition of the German Emperor.—The Emperor's condition is reported to be improving. He is now in a very critical condition, but strong hopes are entertained of his recovery.

BERLIN, June 3.—The court physicians still hope for the complete recovery of the Emperor, but owing to his advanced years a fatal relapse is possible. His Majesty lies in his study, his bed-room being too small to admit of sufficient ventilation. The royal patient took some bouillon at midnight, and afterward slept comparatively well. The room was darkened and the sufferer was secured perfect quiet. This morning the Emperor partook of tea and toast. The Emperor, the Grand Duke and the Grand Duchess of Baden, the Emperor's only daughter who, it will be remembered, was seated by her father's side on the occasion of the attempt upon his life by Hebel, arrived early.

The meeting was exceedingly affecting, and both wife and daughter knelt at the side of the couch offering prayers for the Emperor's life. The scene is one never to be forgotten, and the physicians and nurses withdrew to the ante-chamber in recognition of the sacredness of the moment. The Emperor has not left the bedside of her husband since her arrival.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 3.—President Hayes and the members of his Cabinet, who were expected here July 4, have notified the authorities that, in view of the existing political complications, the President will not leave Washington City.

Why They Want to Reduce the Army. From the Cincinnati Gazette.

Two motives stick out in all the proceedings in Congress to reduce the army and cut down the pay of the remnant. One is hostility to the army because of its loyalty in the war; the other is a desire to reduce the country before such rioting and incendiarism as stopped all the business of the country last summer, and which threatens another attempt with a more extensive organization and a more destructive programme. One motive is the same that desired the army's destruction in the secession war, and that in the North voted against all pay, supply and recruits. This motive is revenge, qualified among Southerners by a scheme for enlarging the army again so as to restore the Southern officers who deserted their flag. The other motive is that affinity which Democratic politics ever has for disorder, for mobs, riots, Communism and everything destructive. This is not felt to be a mere matter of partisan opinion or prejudice. In the debate on this army bill the Democrats freely declare their purpose to so cripple the army that it should not be used to put down such riots as that which burned millions of dollars' worth of property at Pittsburgh, and threatened a course of burning over the whole country if any attempt was made to enforce law against them.

From the St. Louis Republican (Democratic paper).

The vote of the House to reduce the army to 20,000 men is a decision whose wisdom the conservative element of the country will question. It is a Democratic decision and that party will have to be responsible for its results.

A Human Skeleton Inside of a Horse.

From the Virginia City Enterprise. A miner in the Black Hills, writing to a friend in this city, tells of a horrible reminder of the fearful snowstorms of last winter, and of the perils of those who were caught out and lost their way on the plains. He says that recently, while he and two others were crossing the country they came upon the skeleton of a horse, within which was the skeleton of a man, with the grinning skull looking out at them from between the ribs of the animal, like a prisoner peering through the bars of his cell. The two skeletons told the whole story. The man had killed his horse, cut him open, and crawled inside of him, thinking to thus escape perishing of cold. But the flesh of the animal froze solid, and the man was as much of a prisoner as he had been shut in by walls of iron. The wolves and carrion birds had stripped the greater part of the flesh from both skeletons. The miner concludes his description by saying: "It was a sight I shall never forget. I can see it now whenever I close my eyes."

The Prevention of a Terrible Disaster.

No disease, excepting the most deadly forms of lung disease, involve such a tremendous destruction of organic tissue as those which fasten upon the kidneys. Such maladies, when they become chronic—and none are so liable to assume that phase—completely wreck the system. To prevent this terrible disaster, recourse should be had, upon the first manifestation of trouble, to Hostetter's Bitters, which experience has proved to be highly effective as a means of imparting tone and regularity to the organs of urination, as well as to the liver, stomach and bowels. Another beneficial result of this medicine, natural consequence of its diuretic action, is the elimination from the blood of impurities which beget rheumatism, gout, dropsy, and other maladies. By increasing the activity of the kidneys, it augments the depurative efficiency of those organs, which are most important outlets for the escape of such impurities. J. J. Woodruff.

—Almost every night parties of tramps numbering from six to twelve arrive at Monterey, and disappear with the morning dew. The officers should lay for them and capture them.

—The Pleasant Grove Temple of Honor will give a strawberry festival on Wednesday afternoon June 12, at the Grange Hall, and followed by a dance in the evening. Many from this city will doubtless attend.

—Mr. E. C. Johnson, of Johnstown Center, has lately purchased of W. G. & J. Hill, of Canada, twenty-one imported Cotswold sheep, the largest of which weighs 302 pounds. Mr. Johnson proposes to engage extensively in the raising of this breed of sheep.

—Romaine Holdrege and James Bristol put a new shell in the river to-day, which is probably the speediest one ever launched here. It is thirty-eight feet long and only fourteen inches wide, and it cuts the water so slick that it could divide a railroad in halves.

—Frank Williams, of Beloit, has registered at the Hotel de Colley, and will remain there working for his board for sixty days, because he hit another Beloit named Clement over the head with a billiard cue. He didn't count upon his man and hence got into the pocket.

—Mr. Alfred Dewey, who lives on Milton Avenue, near the city limits, went out into his potato patch today, and on one hill alone found forty-two veteran potatoes, which were holding a convention to devise ways and means to prevent the further spread of paris green.

—Mr. Byron J. Price, editor of the Rip-on Commonwealth is in the city. He is a Badger-born, and Badger-educated journalist, and still is very far from being a bad sort of a fellow. The Commonwealth under the management of Scofield & Price is a live paper.

—Mr. Amos Gould of Lima, has shown us some specimens of winter wheat, of the Teal variety, now growing on his farm. The stocks are about four feet long, while the heads of the wheat are well formed. This is a more advanced condition than we usually see wheat during the first week of June. In fact, we believe it unprecedented.

—The Appeal, a stirring temperance paper published at Fond du Lac by Colonel Watrous, says: "Crystal Temple of Janesville, keeps right on with its good work. No Temple in the State has been the means of starting so many Temples as Crystal Pleasant Grove, Clear Lake, Johnston Center and Burr Robbins' Temples are children of Crystal, and others are to follow."

—We were to-day shown some maps and plots of the cemetery which were drawn by the hand of Mr. C. L. Totten. They were very nicely executed, and are said to be accurate in all their details. The most wonderful fact about them is that they are drawn by one who ranks simply as a workman, and who has never had any schooling in draughting or any work of this kind. The plots show that there is native ability which should be cultivated.

—St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Benevolent Society, of this city, will be well represented in the annual convention of the Catholic Temperance Union, to be held in Oshkosh this week. This afternoon the following delegates left for that place: Reverend Father Doyle, A. Sanner, J. W. Hogan, W. E. Nightingale, Timothy McCue, Daniel Sullivan, also Mr. F. Quinn, Secretary of the State Union. The band of the same Society, numbering sixteen pieces, accompanied them.

—Prof. Van Cleave, who attended the great musical festival at Cincinnati, has consented at the request of several citizens interested in that occasion, to give a free talk concerning the festival, and the date was fixed for to-night, but owing to the festival at the Baptist church, it has been deemed best to postpone the matter until to-morrow night when all who desire to hear him can do so at Prof. Haire's rooms, the talk to commence at 8 o'clock. It will be an interesting occasion.

—As will be seen from our telegraphic columns, S. Clark Burnham, Jr., of the Crystal Temple of Honor of this city, was to-day elected to the highest official position in the Grand Council which is in session at Portage. Mr. A. D. Wickham, of the same Temple, was elected Grand Treasurer. These honors are justly conferred, not only on account of the merit and worth of the recipients, but also on account of the local Temple to what they belong, and which stands high in the order for enthusiastic and persistent work.

—The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 59 degrees above, zero and at 2 o'clock at 69 degrees above. Breezy and somewhat cloudy. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 59 and 75 degrees above.

The indications are for the Tennessee, Ohio and upper Mississippi valley and lake region, rising barometer, cooler, west to north winds, and very generally clear or partly cloudy weather, preceded in the first and last districts by occasional rains.

CHEEKY BURGLARS.
Some time during last night burglars succeeded in gaining an entrance to the residence of Mr. E. H. Davies, No. 36 Academy street, by breaking out a light of glass in a rear window, unfastening the catch and thus gaining access to the kitchen. Here they helped themselves to a pan of milk and some cold victuals, and several pairs of hose from the week's washing which was awaiting ironing in the kitchen, taking pains to select the newest and the best. They then went out on the walk, seated themselves in some rustic chairs, ate their midnight lunch, put on clean stockings, and started forth on their weary tramp. The family knew nothing of the occurrence until, awaking this morning, they saw the condition of affairs.

THE ROSY RIBBONS.
The Red Ribbon Club have concluded not to attempt to carry longer the heavy financial burden of renting Eble's Hall, and fitting up a reading room, restaurant &c., and will meet Wednesday night at the rooms of the Young Men's Association to consider what is best to do. There are several propositions to be placed before the Club, one being to occupy the rooms of the Young Men's Association. Other questions of importance are to be discussed, so that every member of the Club interested should be present. One thing that the club should consider, is as to who is responsible for the payment of Dr. McCollister's board bill, as there seems to be a difference of opinion upon that subject, and those opposed to the club are making capital out of the fact that it is not paid. Those who have the most interest in the club avow that they do not propose to let the club die out, but propose to keep the expenses within the income, and weed out all but active working members.

AN INCIPIENT BLAZE.
About 6 o'clock last evening smoke was discovered on the third floor of Lappin's block, and a speedy search for the cause showed that the furnace used by Veeder & Leonard had communicated its heat to the wooden timbers of the floor upon which it stood, and had started a small blaze there. The location of the fire underneath the furnace made it difficult to reach with water, and it was some time before it could be extinguished. No alarm was sounded, but Chief Engineer Young, Marshal Keating and others came to the rescue, and by tearing away a portion of the floor, managed to get at the fire. Mr. D. R. Stout, of M. C. Smith & Son, came rushing up with a hand engine tucked singly under his arm, and soon put on a stream which quenched the blaze and stopped its further progress. We congratulate Messrs. Veeder & Leonard on their narrow escape from a heavy loss. Steps will be at once taken to prevent any further damage from the furnace, as a large fire in that block would prove a most disastrous loss.

A FAT ANSWER.
In the Circuit Court the other day one of the attorneys for the defense sought by cross-examination to show that the complaining witness was so ignorant that his testimony should not be received, except with great caution. To show up his ignorance he asked the witness:

"Can you read, sir?"
"No sir."
"Can you tell one day of the week from another if you saw them printed in an almanac?"

"No sir."
"Well, now sir, when did you file this information?"
"I never filed nothing, sir."
"What! Do you say, sir, that you never filed this information?"
"I never did, sir."

"Well, when did you enter a complaint against the defendant?"
"I never complaint of nothing."
"Do you pretend to say you never made a complaint against this man?"
"I never did."

"Well then what in the world did you do?"
"I just tuk 'em up, that's all."

Even Judge Conger's dignity was badly shaken up by the final answer, and some time elapsed before the examining attorney could go on with his questionings.

A YOUTHFUL EMBEZZLER.
A few days ago the Gazette mentioned the fact that a 13-year-old son of F. Sherretsaw, the keeper of the Farmer's Home, was missing, and fears were entertained by the anxious father that some accident had befallen him. It has now come to light that the boy has probably run away of his own accord. It appears that his father has been sending him to the German school, and that from time to time he has sent by the boy money to pay his tuition. The boy has taken this money and spent it for his own use, and finally last Saturday the priest sent a bill to the father, by another boy. The youthful embezzler on seeing the other boy coming to the house with the bill for his tuition knew that his game was up and that his father would know all. He accordingly skipped out and has not been seen since, he having probably been frightened at the thought of what consequences will follow the revelation that he had used the money for other purposes. He will probably wander about until tired of the ways of the world, and then return to have a fatted calf killed. Mr. Scherretsaw has heard that someone sold a revolver to the boy before he left. He is hunting about to find the truth of the story, and is very indignant at the idea that any one would sell fire-arms to a boy of his age. He says that if any one should sell his boy fire-arms he would not object, but to sell him fire-arms is too much for poor human nature to bear.

THE WEATHER.
The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 59 degrees above, zero and at 2 o'clock at 69 degrees above. Breezy and somewhat cloudy. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 59 and 75 degrees above.

Tobacco Market.
[From the United States Tobacco Journal.]
NEW YORK, June 1, 1878.
Partly owing to Decoration day and the inclemency of the weather, and partly to an assortment of stock which left hardly any choice, business last week has been less active than during the previous few weeks. There were many buyers in the market, principally city manufacturers and out of town jobbers, but the volume of transactions reached only 1,500 cases, and most of the purchases made were for immediate wants. Manufacturers complain very much of the scarcity of good old wrappers, and anxiously await the readiness of the 77 crop. Export remains quiet, though not without some demand. Considerable gossip is being indulged in, owing to the fact that a small sample lot of 77 Pennsylvania old ready in Bremen at satisfactory figures. It is thought that a good export demand for this crop will shortly set in. We specify last week's sales as follows:

120 cases 76 Massachusetts wrappers, at 12 cents.
65 cases 77 Connecticut, wrappers, at 25 cents.
300 cases 76 Pennsylvania, running lots, 9 1/2¢ and 13 1/4¢ cents.
30 cases 77 Penn, assorted, 8 cents for low and 15 cents for fine.
180 cases 77 State, p. 1.
30 cases Ohio, running 7 1/2¢ cents.
Wrappers, 10 and 12 1/2¢ cents.
100 cases 77 Ohio, running, 7, 7 1/2 and 7 3/4 cents.
153 cases, mostly low wrappers, at 8 to 15 cents.
Among them are for export, as reported by a prominent broker, 140 cases 77 Pennsylvania at 8 and 9 1/2¢ cents.
100 cases 77 Ohio, at 7 to 7 1/2¢ cents.
Also 25 cases 77 States sample lot.
BAYANA—Moderately active. The demand for fine good in very great. Sales number 600 barrels at 55 cents for low and $1.12 for a vegs of 50 barrels of fine 77. Importers and jobbers report a country-order business, but mostly for fine grades.
